Reading for Information

Description:
Reading for information is designed for students of English Language Education Department at semester 2. With 4 credits, the present course will cover four type of texts, such as functional, descriptive, narrative and recount text. These materials are designed to build and refine skills learned in pre-intermediate level reading in various topics, both in General English, or English for Specific Purposes.

Material:
1. Concept of descriptive texts,
2. Concept of narrative texts,
3. Concept of recount texts,
4. Understanding main ideas strategy,
5. Understanding strategy of discussing the topics of the texts.
6. Strategies in summarizing
7. Vocabulary development